

1.3.108

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, January 14-20, 2005 (Tape 97) during WeekWorks 4

www.unc.bz

1. You know this is of Me, you know this is of Me, you know that I opened the door for you to be at Regent (1), to help bring forth that which I have placed, that which is in My heart, that which is in your heart, yea, that which I am doing now and I will do with everyone who will let Me. I will do with those far and near. I will do with those far and near; those who look like Me, and look like you and look like you not; things, paraphernalia, hair, you have never seen. I bring the hungry. I bring them to My table. I sit down with My bread and wine and I exchange them with Me. I covenant. I am My covenant. I bring My covenant. I bring My bread and wine through you; every bread and wine-er who will come and bread and wine be and allow My bread and wine to come through them to each other. Yea, I give you Me. I give you this day and I love you and I thank you for letting Me speak. And I will speak at every meeting. I will speak in every classroom. I will speak through every person and I will reveal My knowledge in every subject known and unknown and never yet even thought of or conceived in the mind of man, if you let Me.

Thank you for letting Me.

Thank you for letting Me.

Thank you for letting Me.

Thank you for letting Me.

Thank you for letting Me.

2. Thank you for letting Me be in My school and for honoring Me and My name and walking forth My values and My Cross and resurrecting into only Me and not resurrecting into your own power, your own blood, your own authority, but walking Me.

3. See Me and what I have said and what I will continue to do and reveal to you and everyone of you and your family, your friends and your body and your seed. Forever more I love you and I give you Me.

4. Now listen and listen and listen to Me as I write and I write and I will write through and I will speak through you and let Me speak more through you, even to you, and each other and your family, let Me come forth, first person. I will first person every one of you and in every classroom that you let Me.

Footnote:

1. Regent University where I just completed my Doctorate of Strategic Leadership degree (Fall, 2005).